

A Little of This and That in OUR TOWN

Holidays—

There will be none to deny that the thousands who could enjoy the season's first big holiday week end had a perfect handout from the weather man.

The opportunity for relaxation was ideal. For the forlorn few who had no recourse from their work-a-day routine, the occasion meant little more than seeing to it that others enjoyed themselves. Always, some must labor so that others can enjoy themselves all the more.

It is probably the first time in the history of this city's existence as a tourist center that business couldn't reap the harvest of tourist spending. Holiday traffic for the most part, and for the first time, caught a glimpse of the outer edges of our town.

Those sturdy men who man the 56 gas pumps that line US-27 through town, had time galore to visit with the few strays who managed to wiggle their cars in and around the excavations and sand piles that now clutter up "main" street.

Those who stood on the sidelines watching the Memorial Day parade was the best yet. It was both colorful and expressive of the spirit of the day. Organizations participating prepared faithfully for the event.

If there was a single harsh note in the otherwise impressive display of native patriotism, it could have been the untimely blaring of trumpets just as the spirited procession passed one of the local churches halfway through services. The timing was a little off here, since a few minutes one way or the other would have avoided the distraction.

Some two dozen youngsters squirmed in their pews and these, along with the grown-ups, must have wondered if, after all, they had to miss the colorful parade.

Watch It!

Most of us local motorists have been through and about the city's side streets all these years with nothing more to bother us than the occasional fender-bender and sometimes approaches from an other direction.

And so it is that now you will hear tell of the more recent experiences of the town's more jittery motorists. Innocent as they may be, they are driving across the temporary US-27 without so much as a stop or look-see.

Rated as it now is on one of the side streets which heretofore held no danger, the highway is fraught with danger to the driver who fails to alert himself to this present setup.

Watch it, folks!

On the Avenue—

Its only an "if"—but if we were a member of the dry cleaning profession, or a purveyor of fine, laundered goods, most assuredly we'd go after some of that business along the avenue.

In between the patriotic holidays we'd try to turn out a masterful job on the flags on the town's numerous business fronts.

That is, of course, if we could convince a number of the flag displayers that those soiled ones didn't look so good out front on Decoration Day.

Correspondent—

We have heard previously from the author of the following verse. It is a further contribution of an ardent reader-correspondent:

Home

If home is where our heart is Let's all try to keep it that. We shouldn't make it a place in which to hang our hat. For home is where we gather When our daily tasks are done, To discuss our many problems And turn leisure into fun.

Every meal becomes a banquet When prepared by mother's hand, And presided over by father, Who enjoys it from his stand. When the evening meal is over We should all pitch in, To make the kitchen and dining room As neat as a new pin.

If we have problems to be solved We should bring them to the fore; And share each other's burdens, Ere they throw us to the floor. Then some wholesome recreation Will never be amiss, But will make our lives worth living And make home a place of bliss. —Mabel McCallum.

Motorists Warned Safe Driving Speeds Not Always Legal Limit

BY DR. HERBERT J. STACK
Director, Center for Safety Education, New York University

This is the first of a series of 10 articles on street and highway safety, written by nationally recognized accident prevention specialist and published by this newspaper in the interests of greater traffic safety.

Three out of every ten motorists involved in fatal accidents drive to their rendezvous with death in a hurry. Some of them are actually exceeding posted speed limits; but many more of them are merely driving too fast for existing conditions.

That dare-devil racer, Malcolm Campbell, could drive with comfort and relative safety over the "Utah Sands" at 200 miles an hour. But a motorist moving one tenth as fast in a crowded residential district may not be able to avoid hitting a youngster who dashes into the street 20 feet in front of him.

Accurate figures indicate, and traffic authorities agree, that speed contributes to accidents primarily as speed "too fast for conditions," rather than as high speed or any arbitrary number of miles per hour.

Considering this, the wise motorist will not only keep within posted speed limits, he will also take into consideration the amount of traffic, the character of the highway, the road surface, the weather, and all other conditions that affect automobile operation. The following methods of adjusting speed to conditions are a guide to safe, sound, restful driving:

1. Keep a clear stopping distance ahead. Slow down when necessary, in approaching hills, curves or intersections. At night, drive so that it is possible to stop within the clearly illuminated distance ahead. Cut down speed when the road is slippery.

2. Never slow down suddenly, except in emergency.

3. Use the speeds of other motorists as a guide on busy highways. Keep up with traffic, but don't drive much faster or slower than the average speed.

4. Passenger comfort is a guide to reasonable, maximum speed under normal conditions. Never drive so fast that passengers feel uncomfortable.

5. Look well ahead continually while driving, and keep a close watch for hidden hazards.

6. Approach intersections and other hazardous points at a speed which will permit full control of the car.

Conscious of the part they must play in reducing accidents caused by speed, Federal, county, state and municipal authorities are carrying out studies to determine postwar maximum safe speeds for congested highways and less heavily traveled rural roads.

Engineers are continually developing new highways which allow for uniform traffic speed. This will do away with the need for much special speed zoning, as well as the elimination and reconstruction of many especially hazardous intersections, curves and underpasses.

A public education program is under way, emphasizing the disastrous results of excessive speed, the meaning of speed signs and the best means of adjusting driving to varying conditions.

All of these programs are of value. But they will be of little avail—many more motorists and pedestrians will die in 1948 and in the years to come—unless every driver remembers that his mind, not his foot, must motivate the gas pedal.

Present Vocal, Piano Recital

Some thirty-four young musicians were presented in recital Thursday evening, May 27 at the Grayling High School Auditorium by their teacher, Mrs. June Gross. Around one hundred and fifty interested parents and friends were on hand to witness the event.

Judy Larson opened the program with a piano solo arrangement "Airy Fairies" by Spaulding. She was followed by Susan Bidvia, who sang "The Summer Boat" by Riley. Judy Hunter was next with a piano solo, "Rosemary" by Fox. Karen Rasmussen sang "I'm Looking Over a Four Leaf Clover" by Woods. Piano numbers "The Dirigible," "Drowsy Moon" were played by Karen Rasmussen, Tom Ward and Andrea Brown respectively. Jerimae Harwood sang "Song at Dusk" by Audre Wolcott. Blaine, Sandra Strong sang "Just a Cottage Small" by Hanley. Marilyn McMillan played "The Flute" and Nancy Hilton played "Fairland Music, Geraldine" by Larkie. "Peg O' My Heart" followed by "Birds of Paradise" played by Marvin Biel-ski and "Swaying Pines" played by Caroline Long.

Glenda Parker and Bradley Stephan played two Hawaiian duet duets "Kamicki March" by Smith and "Kentucky Rose" by Cusenza. Bradley also played a piano solo "The Little Corporal" by Black. Betty Kubick played "Three o'clock in the Morning" and Marlene Sorenson, "Horle-

State Checking On Price Gouging

At this time of year the Weights and Measures Division of the Bureau of Marketing and Enforcement, receive a number of complaints regarding the seemingly exorbitant prices charged by those engaged in the business of cleaning septic tanks, reports Miles A. Nelson, Chief of the Bureau, Michigan Department of Agriculture. Persons and firms rendering this type of service are now soliciting this business for a specified price, generally based on the number of pounds of the material removed.

Too often the public fails to realize that when charges for such services are computed on a price per unit of weight or measure, the transaction comes under the provisions of the state's weights and measures law. Mr. Nelson advises that if the weight or measure of the material removed is not true and correct with the regular measurement of the customer, a violation has been committed. If the material is removed from the septic tank at a specified charge per ton, it would be well for the person paying for such service to demand a weight certificate issued by a responsible weigher. If a specified charge per cubic foot or gallon is made, then it would be advisable to know the inside measurement of the tank, so that the owner of the tank may be reasonably sure that the amount alleged to have been removed does not exceed the capacity of said tank. Some cases of this type have been reported where the owner had been billed for the removal of as much as three times the amount of waste as the tank could hold.

Frequently the people engaged in septic tank cleaning are transient, moving from one locality to another with rapidity. Owners of septic tanks are cautioned to exercise care in entering into a contract or agreement for the cleaning of their tanks, to be reasonably sure that they are not defrauded, states Mr. Nelson.

Indies Victors In Two Games

The Grayling Independent Baseball team tucked two victories under their belt over the long Memorial Day week end as they vanquished Houghton Lake here Sunday in a North Central League game, 14 to 2.

The list Monday in a non-league tilt by 15 to 14 count.

Bob Gildner went the route for Grayling against the Houghton Lake nine with Ted Bennett behind the plate. Gene Miller started on the mound for Grayling on Monday and was replaced by Phil Keway in the second inning, who was back to the "old home town" for a visit, struck out 12 Grayling batters as he finished the game. Ted Gagne, Ike Luzenski, Bob Laws and Frank Nephew did the hurling chore for Grayling with Jack Lovelace behind the plate.

Ed Carlson garnered 4 hits in 8 trips to the plate, the pair of doubles and two singles. Keway added to his pitching job by smashing a screaming drive over the left field fence in the fourth inning for a circuit trip.

With the score standing 14 to 12 in Grayling's favor at the last half of the ninth inning over, Carlson singled to left. Gildner dropped a Texas leaguer over second with Carlson going to second. Kellogg was issued a pass filling the bases with none out. Bennett tied into a single to left scoring Carlson and Gildner with the tying runs with Kellogg going to second. George Hanson singled through the box to bring Kellogg home with the game-winning score.

Comins will appear at the local diamond Sunday in a league game with Grayling. The "play ball" time is as usual, 2:30 P. M.

The local team is seeking ways and means of raising about $350 to $400 in order to purchase new uniforms. The team, although now uniformed, displays several different versions of playing clothes. An apparently winning outfit would appear even better dressed in a new spangly uniform which would do Grayling credit.

Marjorie Nelson To Go To Wolverine Girls' State

The American Legion Auxiliary, Grayling Post No. 108, has selected and is sponsoring Miss Marjorie Nelson, a Junior High student, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Nelson, to attend Wolverine Girls' State at Lansing, Michigan, during the week of June 15th to June 22nd inclusive.

Week end guests of Mrs. Ella Wilcox at Lake Marguerite were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Snyder of Bay City, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Snyder of Saginaw, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Spens and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hanson of Alpena. Miss Peggy Snyder spent the week end with her grandmother, Mrs. Oscar Hanson and cousin, Miss Nancy.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

The regular social meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary, Grayling Post No. 108, was held at the Legion Hall, May 25th. Cards were played and a buffet lunch was served by the committee in charge. Mary Jorgenson as chairman, assisted by Margaret Tinker and Marie Quinn.

Many Fires Over Week End

Grass and forest fires plagued Grayling and the surrounding area over the week end as a warm sun aided and abetted by a high drying breeze made tinder of the surrounding country.

Last Saturday six fires broke out along the New York Central right-of-way, burning a total acreage of about 8 or 9 acres. None of these fires proved to difficult to master and none did too much damage.

On Sunday a fire started by a smoker broke out a mile west of Grayling, burning a total acreage of about 8 or 9 acres. The day also saw eight more blazes break out along the railroad tracks in the country.

On Monday a bad forest fire was finally conquered along the banks of Bear and Portage Creeks, west of Grayling after it had burned through 80 acres of swamp. The blaze started in an abandoned beaver marsh along the creek and due to the powder dry condition of the underbrush was off with a rush. Its location made it a strictly hand-fought blaze as heavy motorized equipment could not be brought into play.

The conservation department has about 20 high school boys working permits to fight fires. The boys have been trained in combating the red menace of the woodland and have proved a great aid in the past few days. Conservation Officer Clarence Roberts said, "One boy was burned in fighting the Monday blaze when he tripped and fell, running his hand and arm in the burning brush."

He was high in his praise of the New York Central also, who he said had aided them in many ways. The railroad put "speeder patrols" on behind each train running through this area. "These patrol cars are equipped with engine sparks and quickly subdued them. Faulty coal was blamed for many of the spark-kindled fires, and the railroad is shipping their usual supply of this coal out of the area and replacing it with fuel which they feel will eliminate the danger.

It is illegal, Officer Roberts pointed out, to start a fire in this area without a burning permit which is issued by the department. However, until there is a change in the weather no permits will be issued to anyone, he added.

An Open Letter

To the Members of the Grayling Sportsmen's Club:

Last November the Grayling Sportsmen's Club embarked upon the most ambitious project of its history—a home and a place where year-around sporting activities could be enjoyed by the members. The first step of this program was accomplished when the State Conservation Department agreed to give an operating corporation, selected from the club membership a 5 year renewable lease for the Winter Sports Park. This lease covered all building equipment and over 800 acres of land ideally suited to the club's purposes. The Winter Sports season is now history.

If one will consider the very short time we had to organize, no finance, start with a limit of expense in the management of such a project and last but by no means least, the railroad's refusal to give excursion rates for snow trains. Loss of revenue from this source probably hurt us in spite of all this we feel a very creditable showing was made.

The next undertaking was the formation of an archery division of the club. This idea went over with an enthusiastic reception. The first meeting held for this purpose was attended by approximately 250 people which included a large percentage of the members' wives and daughters. Shoots were held indoors in the morning building for the balance of the winter. An outdoor field course has been added and this division is thriving. The question now arises, "shall we stop now and rest our accomplishments, or shall we carry on the development of the park as an all year sports center?" The time is now ripe for the next venture which will be an attempt to form a firearm shooting division. Our Park has unlimited facilities and terrain for any form of shooting you may desire. We also have an ideal pond on which bait and fly casters may practice and hold tournaments. If you believe we should carry on and develop these and other future ideas, then let us know by coming out to the club's regular meeting tonight (Thursday, June 3), at the Winter Sports Park. If you don't, they stay at home and let George do it. Remember any club is only so good as its members interest and support will make it.

One of the "Georges".

City Marks Memorial Day With Parade, Services

Jet Planes Fly Over City

Promptly at 9:30 Sunday morning, four Army Shooting Star jet-propelled planes appeared over Grayling to start off Memorial Day which was observed with a parade and services at the Ausable River for the Navy dead and at Elmwood Cemetery for the departed heroes of the country's war.

The four swift-flying P-80's swept over the city four times at very low altitude and in various formations bringing a touch of America's aerial might to the local services.

The parade stepped off from in front of the Grayling American Legion Hall at promptly 11 A. M. and moved to the City Park on the Ausable River, where appropriate ceremonies for the Navy dead were held. The line of march then stretched out to Elmwood Cemetery with the Grayling High School band joining the procession on the march up Cedar Street. The parade was led by a Colorguard followed by the Grayling Legion Drum and Bugle Corps in the colorful uniforms and in a union of snappy marching and playing. They were led by their quartet of drum majorettes who gave the crowd a thrill with their baton handling and marching.

The Grayling High School band followed next in the procession and played exceptionally well as they stepped snappy and in the route. The veterans organizations followed next in the line of march with every branch of the service represented. The Red Cross flag and a woman's veterans organization color guard followed by the Girl Scout color guard and troops were next. A large group of Grayling school children brought up the rear of the parade.

After ceremonies at Elmwood Cemetery the procession moved back to the Legion Hall where "Old Glory" was raised from half-mast position to the top of the flag pole and the group then disbanded.

Club Open For Play

The Grayling Golf Club is now open for play by the use of temporary greens and the public is invited to make use of the facilities gratis at anytime, it was announced.

A trip made here last week by a greens expert revealed that play on the club's regular greens could be started some time between July 1 and 15. The cold spring has not been conducive to grass growth and held up the growing of the green grass on the club's nine putting greens.

The fairways and tees are in good shape and quite a number of local golfing enthusiasts have taken advantage of the temporary setup to loosen up their game.

Courses manager "Johnny" Johnson and his assistant, George Morrison, are working on the greens this week spotting in holes which have no grass growth and keeping them moist. A few days of good warm weather is expected to bring an amazing change in the appearance of the nine golfing targets.

The book club selections for June which are also ready for circulation are: "Merchant of Valor," by Clarence Buddington Kelland, "Penny for the Girl," by E. Nesbit, from England to Italy to unfold the prophecy of a young fortune teller concerning the life of Peter Carey; "Peony" by Peary S. Buck, a beautiful and powerful novel of a Chinese girl and a Jewish boy in 19th Century China; "A Sword from Galway," by Drayton Mayrant, a story of fiery temperament and conflict between pride and love, told in the style of historical romance; "A Girl Can Dream," by Betty Cavanaugh, a present-day high school story of a girl at first not popular with the boys but who leaves wildflower days behind in wholesome achievement; "Jeff Roberts, Railroadman," by Edward Ford, a story about the adventures of Jeff as he advanced from humble call boy to fireman. Again the last two books are selections for older boys and girls from Junior Literary Guild.

SEEK DELEGATE FOR SMALL CRAFT SCHOOL

For many years camp directors and operators have used Red Cross-trained Water Safety instructors to direct waterfront activities in their camps. Many of these instructors have been trained at National Aquatic Schools. Boating, canoeing, and sailing have become increasingly important in such programs to the end that most camps feel the need for specially qualified personnel to handle this phase of waterfront activity.

To provide for this need the American Red Cross is conducting

Pupils to Get Hearing Tests

More than 88 counties in Michigan this year are engaged in a program to aid in conserving the hearing of the state's school-age children and to help students now handicapped by poor hearing.

Under the plan, two hearing consultants will visit the schools in each county to determine how many children are hard of hearing and what can be done about it.

To ascertain whether children have hearing difficulties, group hearing tests, using an audiometer, are given. The audiometer, a phonograph with individual headphones for each pupil, plays a record in which a woman's voice repeats numbers in diminishing loudness.

Each pupil writes down all the numbers he can hear. The more numbers missed, the greater is the degree of hearing difficulty. If the test shows that a child does not hear as well as he should, the pupil is given individual hearing tests.

The tests are followed up by local health organizations and school personnel to see that each child suffering from loss of hearing is taken to a specialist for examination and medical care.

According to latest figures, about three per cent of the 214,290 pupils tested since 1943 have shown some hearing loss. After medical treatment, statistics showed that 75 per cent improved, about 50 per cent to normal hearing. Doctors of medicine point out that the improvement in hearing benefits not only in school work but in the social and personality adjustments of the pupil.

In Hot Weather Keep Feet Cool

Keep your feet cool and comfortable this summer. There are four quick, easy ways to do it, according to the June issue of McCall's Magazine.

"Wash in a lather of warm water. Clean feet are cooler, bathing relaxes weary muscles. Add a granulated foot soap to loosen dirt. Splash with cold water.

"Be fussy about drying. Don't miss an inch, especially between your toes. Moist spots are danger points. Your towel's brisk friction rubs away bits of skin scurf.

"Smooth on foot cream. Menthol makes a cream that's icy cool. Then grasp your foot with both hands, slide them down toward toes in deep massage movement.

"Sprinkle on foot powder. After you've wiped off foot cream, dust powder all over your feet, into your shoes, too. This absorbs perspiration, prevents chafing."

Military Diplomacy

The main purpose of any military force, naturally, is to fight if it has to, and to maintain itself in a state of constant readiness for whatever is to come. However, on occasion, the fighting arms can be used as an instrument of high diplomacy as well.

As every one knows, military men have been called upon to fill positions of vast importance, which normally would be held by civilians. General Smith, who was Eisenhower's brilliant chief of staff, represents us in Moscow. General Marshall, the architect of our war strategy, holds the most vital and most difficult job in the nation next to the Presidency. General Clay carries the burden of responsibility for us in Germany. General MacArthur is practically all-powerful in Japan.

There has been much argument, pro and con, concerning the wisdom of giving men, whose sole prior experience has been in the profession of arms, such appointments as these. The American tradition is that the military shall be apart and subservient to civil authority.

So much for individuals. How an actual military body can be used to forward our diplomatic policy is vividly described by Demaree Bess in a recent Saturday Evening Post article. Called "Our Navy in Striped Pants," it tells how our big task force in the Mediterranean has turned it into an American lake.

The attitude that governs this mission was obliquely expressed to Mr. Bess by a chief petty officer of long experience. "In the war, every sailor was a fighter," he said. "Now they tell us we are diplomats, and it is our business to be friendly with foreigners."

This is pretty largely true—though our Mediterranean task force, like all other naval units, is always in readiness for trouble. Today, our foreign commitments are greater and more involved than ever. We are the leader of a Western bloc of large and small powers which is being cemented together in opposition to the Soviet Union's bloc. In Mr. Bess' accurate phrase, "Our Navy is the visible symbol of our participation."

ideas into a few select groups. Under the letter "T" they have:

Temperance - Truth - Tyranny.
Sounds like a funny combination.
And to philosophize a little, notice that Truth is in the center—between Tyranny and Temperance.

Now and then you hear folks criticize temperate people who enjoy a moderate glass of beer... who talk about "two beers" getting some one into trouble, and claim:
"There ought to be a law!"

Then Truth steps in between, and points out that two beers never got anybody into trouble—and that somebody's trying to distort the facts. No, there shouldn't be a law
—there should be Truth.
From where I sit, those ideas are arranged just right. Temperance on one side, Tyranny on the other—and Truth in the middle—seeing that Tyranny never encroaches upon Temperance.

SHORT STORY

Winter Evenings

By RUTH K. KENT

EVY liked winter evenings best because then she had time to do her fancy work. Before she married Bill her days were filled at the office and evenings she had to care for mamma... winter and summer.
Now she had to sprinkle the lawn on summer evenings, but winter...
last year she made that green reedipoint cushion she and Bill were so proud of. It was sacred to Evy
... almost like a child.

This winter she was making seats for the dining room chairs, and they were coming along nicely until the Harpers moved in next door early in January. Kathy Harper was tall but she seemed dainty beside Evy's five feet. Kathy could twist her indigent husband, Curt, around her finger. And her eyes often wandered across the fence after that first day she came over and gushed, "That gorgeous Wedgwood! You wouldn't sell it?"

Evy wouldn't. But the Italian pottery bowl and the tiny flowered picture frame and the blue pitcher found their way to Kathy's living room. Everything seemed to look better in Kathy's living room.

Kathy raved about the needlepoint cushion. Afterwards Bill said, "I'm surprised she didn't get it, too."

Then Kathy started bringing over Curt. "Let's have some bridge," she suggested.

"One evening Kathy said, "Let's play for money."

Evy glanced at Bill, but he didn't move. "Quarter a corner," Curt said.
Bill got that defensive look.
"You'll have to work for it."

Bill was an accurate player, but Kathy had a way of taking all the tricks the way she took everything else. Mostly with her chatter. Bill couldn't concentrate. Kathy had a way of putting when she lost. That made Evy secretly afraid that Bill was letting her win.

So the needlepoint lay rolled in the sewing basket. "I'll work on it next week," Evy would vow.

But next week was always the same. Except that Curt Harper sort of faded out. Sometimes Evy and Bill would want to go to a movie.
Kathy invited herself along and sat on the other side of Bill.

Mamma always said to Evy, "If you'd get mad once in a while, people wouldn't push you around." Evy was getting mad.

One evening when she was out making coffee she heard Kathy in the living room coaxing Bill for something. She'd lost her dollar—probably trying to coax it back.
Kathy's laughter tolled a knell in Evy's heart.

Evy hurried in. Kathy cried,
"Don't you dare, Bill!" and reached for Evy's needlepoint cus-tion, ready to plop it on Bill's head.

Kathy started bringing over her indulgent Curt.

"You put that pillow back," Evy shouted, "Don't you dare touch it."
Bill took the pillow gently. "Ah, ah... no touch."

Evy slammed down the tray.
"Nobody touches that pillow. Least of all you, Kathy Harper. That's one thing to keep your hands off."

They stared at her. Evy realized she'd been screaming.

"I don't want coffee," Kathy said.
"I have to go."

"Too bad," Bill said. "Give me
my pen."

She threw Bill's fountain pen at
him. "Take it, stinky," she said.
The door slammed.

Evy crumpled to a chair. "I...
got so mad..."
"You sure did," Bill reached for a cookie. "She won't be back."
Evy started to cry. Maybe Bill'd go calling on Kathy now. "How could I?"

Bill's eyes narrowed. "She was pawing your pillow."
"I don't care for myself," Evy cried. "But now you can't play bridge."

Bill scratched his head. "I thought you couldn't live without her. You mean... go gods... I was doing it for you." He fingered his pen. "Well, she didn't get everything from us."

Evy smiled. Kathy didn't get anything, really. She laid her head on Bill's arm. "I'm going to finish that needlepoint now."

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

An answer to the eternal question—why does government cost so much—was provided recently by Governor Kim Sigler and Thomas J. Wilson, director of civil service.

Wilson pointed out that 3,216 new employees had been added in the past five years as a result of activities, most of which were authorized by the legislature. Another 2,300 employees were hired to take care of an added load of work due to a 16 per cent increase in population.

Governor Sigler pointed out that if people wanted increased services from the State of Michigan, they must expect to pay for it.

A good illustration of how public services expand is found in Michigan's newest state agency,
the Michigan Department of Economic Development.

The legislature set up this agency at the request of Governor
Sigler. In his inaugural message January 2, 1947, Sigler recommended that the Michigan Planning Commission be abolished and a Department of Economic Development be created. Here is an excerpt: "I believe we can agree that the development of the economic, social, and physical well-being of the State has become a established function of State government. . . . All of the states of the Union, except three, have recognized this responsibility."

Heading the Economic Development department is Maj. Gen.
Ralph Royce of Houghton county,
a retired army career man. General Royce is director at $9,000 a year. Administrative director is Don C. Weeks, former head of the disbanded planning commission, at $8,500 a year. The year's budget is $198,000.

What will this new agency do?
The year's program was adopted by the commission at its May meeting in Lansing. Here are some highlights: Assisting communities to make industrial surveys, such as has been done in the Upper Peninsula; inducing Michigan industries to consider Michigan locations when planning branch plants; development of rural industries; industrial land use;
model township building code;
special economic studies such as the state's transportation, economic resources; and quarterly reports on economic conditions and trends.

The commission believes the state highway department should supplement its auto ferry service at the Straits by a similar service
"between additional points."
Frankfort to Menominee has been mentioned. A fast daylight stream-liner, passenger and cargo, would connect Upper and Lower Peninsula cities is also suggested.

The new department's value will be judged in the future by what it accomplishes. Again, the agency illustrates the point that growth of public service is usually the results of demands made upon the legislature. We get what we are willing to pay for.

of the P. T. A. convention in Bay City to which they were the delegates.

President Lovely then gave a report of the accomplishments of the association while under his guidance and thanked all for the support he had received. Mrs.
Smith, program chairman, then turned the meeting over to Mrs.
Slazak, who installed the new of-Slazak a corsage of roses.

The installation came to a close with all singing "America the Beautiful" Group singing led by LeRoy Christian with Mrs. Emil Giegling playing the piano accompaniment was also enjoyed at the beginning of the meeting.

Mr. Lovely was also presented with a gift from the P. T. A. as a token of appreciation of the tireless effort he has put forth during his stay in office.

fall carnival; John Schotfield, Eugene Lawler and Mrs. Earl Mathewson, student loans; Mrs.
Van Smith, membership.

Mr. Lovely turned the gavel over to Mrs. Richardson, who closed the meeting.

Light refreshments were served in the home making room by the committee consisting of Mrs.
Richard Lovely and Mrs. Ernest
Larson, chairmen; and the Mesdames George Hilton, Joseph Cincinnati, Roy Milnes, Earl Mathewson, Robert Strong, Norval Stephan, Carlyle Brown, Oscar

Goss, Van Smith, Harold Hill,
Willard Cornell, Herbert Stephan, Clayton Straehly, Carl Richardson, Leonard Allison, Dan Babbitt and Mr. Eugene Lawler. A boquet of lilacs served as the centerpiece.

Preceding the meeting a potluck dinner was enjoyed by the officers, their wives and husbands,
Mrs. Slazak and her companions,
in the home making room. Mrs.
Richardson and Mrs. Sanders had charge of the arrangements.

Many People Benefit From Tourist Dollar

Who gets that tourist dollar? Five hundred million of them came into Michigan last year. What's happened to them? Through a survey conducted in the 1947 tourist business by the Michigan Tourist Council it has been learned and the information is being passed along, that money spent by tourists is being shared by thousands of persons. The first spending of the tourist dollar, the Council found out, is as follows:

Seven cents for transportation on public carriers, 12 cents for car transportation, 17 cents for lodging, 22 cents for food, 3 cents for incidentals, 9 cents for amusement, 5 cents at confectioners and roadside stands and 26c for retail purchases of all kinds.

"But this is only the first bound distribution," the Bureau points out. "On the second and third bound, all employees of garages, varied transportation companies, resorts, hotels, restaurants, confectionery stores, roadside stands, and the people who serve them, get a share of these new tourist dollars brought into this Great Lakes area."

"This is tourist money—money that does not come from the sale of a resource, money that people leave in our area incidental to the gaining of a new refreshing experience, a much-needed rest that will send them back to their respective homes better able to fight life's battles."

"Thank them for their patronage, for their money, and treat them always as your guests. Such advertising will be the best advertising investment that you can make."

The Bureau has obtained copies of a little booklet that it believes will help people realize just how much money is brought into a community by tourist business and that the money is of benefit to many persons whom the tourist himself never contacts.

It's just a little piece of cardboard that says: "This is Tourist Money," but if it were clipped to a check or cash folded in it, many persons would be surprised when they learn how far tourist money goes and who gets that tourist dollar.

Occupations Field Trip To Traverse City
By Geneva Avery

We left Grayling at a little before twelve, being divided into three groups in that many cars. Upon arrival at Traverse City, our first stop was the State Hospital, where we were shown through several of the wards, the power plant, the laundry, the dining room, the work shop, where some of the men patients were engaged in physical therapy, and then to the fire house.

Leaving here, we went to the Record-Eagle newspaper office, where Mr. Barnes, the photographer, acted as our guide through the various departments. Of special interest was the engraving process where the mats for the paper were cast in a lead alloy this being the type which when inked prints one page of the paper.

Crossing the street, we visited the Coca-Cola Bottling Company. Upon entering we were given "cokes" which came at the time when we were warm and thirsty. We watched the bottling process and heard the manager tell of various phases of the business.

Next we went to the high school and visited briefly the various departments. We then went out to the vocational training center. Here we saw the machinery which the boys are trained to handle while still in school.

After eating lunch, we went to the offices of Radio Station WTCM, a new experience for most of us. We watched several programs being broadcast and heard national broadcasts coming in over telephone wires. Also, we watched news coming in over a teletype machine.

We left for home and arrived in Grayling at a little after eight, a tired but happy group of students.

for the first time National Small Craft Schools. In the Midwestern Area this school will be conducted at Owasippe Camps, Whitehall, Michigan, June 6 to 16.

The Crawford County Red Cross Chapter will pay the expense of one delegate to this training school, or to Camp Douglas Smith, Ludington, Michigan, where school convenes June 20-30. The minimum age accepted is 16. Candidates should be qualified on the basis of their interest, teaching ability, and availability to teach after they qualify.

If interested contact Fred R. Welsh, First Aid, Water Safety and Accident-Prevention Chairman of this county.

Courses in the teaching of boating, canoeing, and sailing will be offered as well as work in canoe tripping. Included also will be courses in the planning and operation of small craft activities in camps.

The school is primarily for those who will have responsibility for camp small craft activities. It is desirable that applicants have some swimming, life saving, and small craft experience.

Pinned Roses Make June Frocks Smart

June is the month of roses, and what makes a better costume accent than a rose worn in a flattering and unusual way? Pauline Tigere, famed fashion designer, gives you hints in McCall's for June, on how to use roses smartly.

"Worn attached to a pearl choker, a rose sheds warm pink lights upward onto your face. For a touch that brings you a second look; roses clipped to the back of a low neckline.

"Again, at the back of the waistline, pin a long-stemmed beauty, real or fabricated. Combine a rose with violets, tuck corsage into one corner of the low neckline of a black dress. Have a big bow or sash? Push a cabbage rose dramatically into the knot."

Old Hand's Tips On Garden Sprays

If you spray your garden in time this summer, you'll save yourself a lot of unnecessary trouble and disappointment later on, says an old hand, F. F. Rockwell, writing in McCall's for June, he tells the different kinds of bugs to watch out for and the right spray to use for each.

"To get rid of bugs, the first secret is to start shooting the moment a bug appears. The second is to use the right ammunition. There are three kinds of pests and you've got to kill off each with a different ammunition. Aphids (plant lice) are tiny, soft insects that suck plant sap from inside stems and leaves. Get them with a contact poison—nicotine.

"Bugs and beetles that actually eat foliage can be stopped with a stomach poison such as arsenate of lead. DDT and rotenone (non-poisonous) control many of them. Fungus diseases—blights, mildews, leaf-spots, etc.—can't be cured. To prevent, keep foliage sprayed or dusted with sulphur, copper or phygon."

Workers who use more than one social security card in different names or account numbers make more difficult the payment of the full old-age and survivors insurance benefits they may be earning for themselves and their families in case of the worker's death. Any local Social Security Administration office will give free advice on the correct card to be used.

WAIT FOR THE DIAL TONE

Pick up the receiver
and listen before starting to dial.

2.

If the dial tone
is delayed
wait until you hear
that steady hum-m-m.

3.

When you hear the
dial tone, dial
the number carefully.

THAT dial tone is mighty important. It means that the switching equipment in the telephone central office is ready to handle your call. If you dial before you hear it, you'll get a wrong number or no number at all.

Right now there are times when the dial tone is delayed. That's because central office facilities are serving more telephones and handling more calls than ever before... even more than during the busiest war years. And material shortages prevent us adding equipment as fast as we'd like.

But this situation is only temporary. We will restore service to normal as quickly as enough dial equipment can be provided.

Meantime, please remember to listen for the dial tone before you dial.

Letters To The Editor

Editor's Note: The following letter was written to Mrs. Bessie Cook of Frederic by Bernice Goetz, a friend who is employed by the Texas Petroleum Company in Bogota, Columbia. Miss Goetz also writes dispatches and takes photographs for the Central Press Association. Her graphic on-the-spot description of the Bogota riot is most interesting.

Bogota, May 18, 1948.

My Dear Mrs. Cooke:

This is written after the Revolution. After receiving just two days ago, your lovely Christmas gift and after receiving your birthday card and handkerchief, I can't even send you a birthday card since they were always scarce and a specialty which someone had to make by hand anyway and now after the fires, there are very few things one can buy.

I am glad to hear that you are doing well and although you certainly are thin, if it is better for you, I am glad for that too. I had to laugh at the comment of your friend that "they are always having revolutions down there anyway" ... that is what used to happen I know for I have been in others in Guatemala and Ecuador but this was a big-time show as you must have seen by Life. Mrs. Hall wrote and told me that Marnie in Kalamazoo saw my article in the Kalamazoo paper so you must have missed it and if you have some friends there, perhaps can get a copy. It was an eye-witness article which my usual friends, the Central Press Association, took and which appeared in 600 newspapers throughout the Middle West. Mrs. Hall said there was three-quarter inch high headlines on it. In fact, I sold five articles in it, including three to the Cleveland Plain Dealer. If you inquire of the Kalamazoo paper they might still have a copy. It must have been about April 19th or 20th.

I really got into things this time inasmuch as the politician who was murdered was in a clinic next to our apartment building. I heard the shouting, ran to my bedroom balcony and heard a man saying "I am going to tell all the people." So I grabbed my camera and ran right with him and the mob down to the Capitol where they commenced tearing down flags of the Pan American Conference. I took pictures, then saw the sacking of the Palace of Communications and then ran a head home in front of a mob that had just bombed a hardware store and were taking out machetes, pickaxes, etc. It sounded like the French Revolution in back of me. Then they asked for liquor and that is when things got bad. The policemen started handing out guns and all of this went on below by bedroom balcony where I stood taking pictures. I saw a man with his intestines rolling out, dying below us. Two other bodies lay from the apartment. I had a bottle to have a drink and had two of his fingers clipped off by a friend who wanted to help him. A dog ran past me one day after that fatal Friday and I noticed that he had a human hand in his mouth. The fires were bad all around our apartment as we are right in the center of town. They were so close that our whole apartment was rosy.

We were without lights, without water for four days. We cooked over the fireplace like in the Indian days. The maids were so scared they wouldn't leave me as I was alone since my girl friend who works for the American Embassy was evacuated with other Embassy employees. They slept in our living room for two nights. I had 12 people from the apartment house come for tea while the shooting started. They insisted on staying for supper. I ran in the meantime, a poor hostess, all around the apartment building trying to see everything.

On Saturday morning I was restless. I walked down the deadly silent street with some soldiers prowling. They were still looking stores. They had done such a thorough job of it that I saw not a single thing anywhere of value. Then the snipers started. They were in the church towers and on the high buildings. Each time you crossed a small street, snipers were shooting indiscriminately. You didn't matter. Life isn't important down here. A woman ahead of me carrying groceries was shot in the chest. I had to walk slowly past her as to have helped her (she was dead however) would have meant the same for me. A young boy ran past me in fright. Each time you heard a shot, I tried to get off the street as they were shooting at intervals down there. I could do nothing but proceed down it and get home.

Each time you heard a shot, I tried to get into a store across from me. One of the few that was saved. I got my gun out and from the balcony (that famous balcony) shot twice high over their heads. I heard them say "they never come back." Now we are over it ... after four weeks of sniper fire on the streets. We are finally back at work at short hours but things are fairly normal.

I have a new job now ... secretary to the manager of the Texas Company here. It is an excellent job and is the one thing which makes me stay on. Bogota is very dreary now, with ruins and men pitching brick all day for what? They have nothing to build with.

I had another jungle trip from December 18th until February 12th and went up the headwaters of the Rio Orinoco. I am waiting for my pictures on that. The National Geographic still has not come out with my article and I am disgusted with them. It has been a year now.

Mrs. Hall seems very chipper and you still have that same wonderful sense of humor. Without a birthday card and no means to send a package from here, I hope you know I will be thinking of you. Did you ever receive the ring I sent you last October? I can't remember if you said you did as I was so busy getting ready for my trip.

Take care of yourself now and write me when you can. Remember that I love you always!

Sincerely,

Bernice.

Happy Birthday.

HONOR NOTED EDUCATOR

Known and loved by thousands who gained their first start in the business world through his guidance and knowledge, 90-year-old Dr. Patrick R. Cleary, founder and president emeritus of Cleary College, Ypsilanti, sits for a bust by the well-known Michigan sculptor, Julius Ayres.

The bust was commissioned by alumni in practically every village and city in the state. Still active despite his years, Dr. Cleary amazes Executive Vice-President Donald A. Houghton by appearing daily at his office to complete the final draft of a book shortly to be published.

Cleary College was the first school in Michigan to specialize in business administration and commerce courses that would provide young men and women with a "bread-and-butter" education.

"The specialized training demanded in business today," reflects Dr. Cleary, "is a far cry from the general background considered adequate 35 years ago. The business girl of today may have the long skirts of her grandmother but the resemblance ends right there. Many of these girls are equipped to even take over the executive end of a business."

President Owen J. Cleary, son of Dr. Cleary, is chairman of the Michigan State Liquor Commission.

Kiwanis Club Notes

William Joy and Hugel Leonard of the Department of Health of the State of Michigan were the speakers at the regular weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Grayling held at the Lone Pine Inn on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Joy told the club and their guests, Mrs. William Nawatny and Mrs. Leonard Allison of the Women's Club and William Nawatny of the Lions Club, of various means of alleviating the rat population in a community and of further steps to be taken to completely eradicate them.

The visitors from the other clubs were members of a joint committee with Kiwanis members who plan to attack Grayling's rat problem.

Mr. Joy told the club that the removal of places of refuge for the rats and a careful handling of waste food and the storing of other foods would go far in controlling a rat problem. He stated that the new army-tested plan of ditch for garbage dump and backfilling the ditch with at least 18 inches of hard packed soil would go far in killing off flies, rats and in reducing fire danger.

Later the group adjourned to the High School where Mr. Leonard showed films on the control of rats around a farm by poisoning.
